CONDÉ NAST TRAVELER NAMES BRASADA RANCH #1 RESORT IN THE PACIFIC NORTHWEST

Powell Butte, Oregon; November 11, 2015 – Condé Nast Traveler recently announced the 28th annual Readers' Choice Awards naming Brasada Ranch the #1 Resort in the Pacific Northwest and Alaska. This is the second consecutive year the Resort, located just outside Bend, Oregon has received this recognition from the publication.

"We are honored to receive this significant recognition for a second time," said Jeff Stokholm, General Manager of Brasada Ranch. "The beauty of the Oregon High Desert certainly sets the perfect backdrop for the ranch-style, full-service resort experience we aim to create each day. Knowing this award is the result of hundreds of thousands of travelers voting for their favorite places to escape in the Pacific Northwest gives my team and me a great sense of pride and accomplishment."

Condé Nast is the premier media company renowned for producing the highest quality content for the world's most influential audiences. The company's Condé Nast Traveler is a luxury and lifestyle travel magazine that has received over 25 National Magazine Awards.

The Condé Nast Traveler Readers' Choice Awards are the longest running and most prestigious recognition of excellence in the travel industry. Over 128,000 dedicated readers cast votes for over 5,000 hotels and resort worldwide, with a select few making the coveted list.
